15th July 2020 - Week 17

I read a statement today from Christine Caine about stepping out and taking risks. There are times when God leads us into a new path. It may seem like it will take more effort, or create more responsibility, but when God brings an opportunity, he will give us the wherewithal to do the job he is requiring of us. She says, "We often fail to take risks because we don't want to risk failure. After three decades of leading diverse organisations, large and small, here's what I know. You will have to take risks to fulfil purpose and you will sometimes fail. You'll survive. Go ahead, take that risk."

When we step out in faith, we do not always know what the result will be. Sometimes God calls us out of our comfort zone, to walk uncharted territory. We can feel unsure of ourselves, and even doubt our capabilities. But I know that who God has called he will equip, anoint and empower. Like Abraham called trust God to provide the sacrifice, or Moses, leading his people out of Egypt, or Peter stepping out onto the water, we can choose to step out in faith and trust God with the outcome. Like God said to Joshua, "Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be frightened, and do not be dismayed, for the Lord God is with you wherever you go." Joshua 1:9.

I do believe this is a season where God is calling people out of their comfort zone, and leading them to try something new – to take a step that perhaps will lead up a path that seems unfamiliar, or to do a job you feel ill equipped to handle. I want to encourage you, that this may be one of those times to "go ahead and take that risk," and see what God will do.

Have a great week.

Blessings
